1. Please provide any additional written comments on the strengths and weaknesses of the course. You may comment on such things as the use of assignments, text(s), exercises, exams, etc.	The projects are a nice way to demonstrate what we have learned.
2. Please provide any additional written comments on the instructor's strengths and weaknesses.	Dr Lee is always open to conversations outside of the class and is always supportive of learning opportunities.
3. Please provide any additional written comments on the instructor's strengths and weaknesses.	I liked that he required conferences for projects because it allowed me to debate my ideas and get feedback on my projects.
4. Please provide any additional written comments on the strengths and weaknesses of the course. You may comment on such things as the use of assignments, text(s), exercises, exams, etc.	The lack of formal tests and the structure of the projects really works for this class.
5. Please provide any additional written comments on the instructor's strengths and weaknesses.	He is alot more casual than some of my other instructors this semester. Whether that's a good or bad thing likely varies by student though. Personally, I like it.
6. Please provide any additional written comments on the instructor's strengths and weaknesses.	I loved this course and the instructor! His pick of topics and the videos/articles/news he shares are always super relevant and interesting. He grades fairly and is very understanding when it comes to turning things in a little late, which did wonders for my stress levels this semester. He engages the class in discussions well, but sometimes he has a habit of rambling which caused me to zone out a couple of times. I can also see that if someone didn't fall within the same side of the political spectrum that he does, there might be some feelings of tension since he has an obvious bias in the news and viewpoints he chooses to share in class, but I felt that he was still respectful and did a good job of bringing awareness to current events going on. Those are really the only "complaints" I have about Rory Lee though, I think he's a really good professor overall!
7. Please provide any additional written comments on the strengths and weaknesses of the course. You may comment on such things as the use of assignments, text(s), exercises, exams, etc.	liked that we made our own rubrics and had chances to defend our choices in projects, kinda sucks that so much of our grade is in project but ah well, understandable there
8. Please provide any additional written comments on the instructor's strengths and weaknesses.	funny, relatable, makes sure to apply what we are learning in class to real world shit to help us retain the info better, prepared every week, understanding, real cool dude
9. Please provide any additional written comments on the strengths and weaknesses of the course. You may comment on such things as the use of assignments, text(s), exercises, exams, etc.	I think the course is really well-constructed. The only possible change I'd suggest would be to begin project three a little earlier, as it seemed to be given less time although it was also worth 200 points. But the deadline was doable as is, so it's not an 'issue' per se.
10. Please provide any additional written comments on the instructor's strengths and weaknesses.	Dr. Lee is very good at making students feel comfortable in class, which I appreciate.

11.	Please provide any additional written comments on the instructor's strengths and weaknesses.	I feel the course objectives and content are hard and dense themselves, and so even if the instructor is explaining them well, it's hard for the audience to understand. I also recognize that these are very large projects that we turn in, but we get feedback on them with barely any time to apply that feedback to the next project we have to turn in. It makes it very difficult to make the adjustments we need for our projects.
